GETTING STARTED

INTRODUCTION

Third century BC... The rivalry between the two great empires of the world – Rome and Carthage has reached its peak. Both powers wish to claim all for themselves and are reluctant to let the other side win. Countless settlements were destroyed and armies lost in the most merciless wars of the entire age – the Punic Wars.

Determined to bring the utter destruction of their enemies the Carthaginians have sent their greatest general – Hannibal Barca to capture the city of Rome itself. With his mercenary troops and fearsome war elephants Hannibal managed to achieve victory after victory bringing fear to the hearts of all that opposed him.

The Roman Senate, however, did not take this lightly. They too called for their best generals and sent them to deal with this threat.

REQUIREMENTS

100% Windows compatible computer system

Windows 98, ME, 2000 or XP

400 MHz Pentium II Processor

4x speed CD-ROM drive

DirectX 8.1 (included in the game's CD)

Video card and drivers, supporting 1024x768 resolution with 16 bit color

128MB RAM

500MB free disc space

INSTALLATION

To install the game insert the Nemesis of the Roman Empire CD-ROM in your CD-ROM drive. If your computer has AutoPlay enabling it would automatically start the installation process. If it does not, double click on the My Computer icon and locate your CD-ROM drive. Double-click on the CD-ROM icon to start the installation, or open the CD-ROM folder and double-click on the file called setup.exe.

Follow the on-screen instructions. You will be asked to decide where you want to install the game. The default path is “C:\Program Files\Haemimont Games\Celtic Kings – The Punic Wars”. Should you chose to specify a different one you will have to use the Browse button in order to set the desired location where the game will be installed.

After the installation is over you may have to restart your computer for the changes on your system to be applied.

During the installation the game will search the computer for the DirectX.8.1. If such a version of DirectX is not found the game will automatically install it.

STARTING A GAME

Once you have started the game you are presented with the start game screen. As shown in the image on the right.

CHANGE PLAYER

Since this is your first time playing the game you must define your player. If at some point in the game you decide to rename or delete an existing player that could also be done in this section.

TUTORIAL

After you have set your player you could start the Tutorial to become familiar with the game. The tutorial will teach you how to successfully use the games features and controls to lead your tribe to power.

ADVENTURE

This is the adventure of one Gaul hero, who must lead the Gaul's through an epic tale in which you must defeat the Teuton and Roman forces and save the Gaul nation.

SINGLE PLAYER

Single player mode implies there could be only one single human participant in the game. By clicking on the button left of the player name the player can define the number of computer opponents (7 at the most), their race, bonus and difficulty.

MULTIPLAYER

Multiplayer mode allows up to 8 players (human, computer or both) to participate in one game. However, in this mode only the person hosting the game has the power to set the game settings. The remaining participants can only define their color, race, bonus and team upon joining.

Once everything is set and every human participant has checked the "I'm ready" box the person hosting can start the game.

LOAD GAME

Allows you to load saved games and custom made maps and scenarios.

EDITOR

Alternatively, if you are already familiar with the game and wish to create your own adventures and maps you could get creative using the game Editor. See Level Editor section for more details.

GAME BONUSES

In Nemesis of the Roman Empire the player has the option to start the game (single player or multiplayer) with one of eleven available bonuses:

Wealth – 1000 gold + 4 gold per second

Riches – 2000 gold + 8 gold per second

Fortune – 4000 gold + 16 gold per second

Ash of Druid Heart – (item) when used heals the bearer and 8 friendly neighboring units

Boar Tooth – (bonus item) gives 16 experience to its owner; when used the item damages an opponent with the health of the bearer

Boar Teeth – (bonus item) increases the bearer's level with 5

Concentration Gem – (bonus item) increases the maximum attack of its owner with 60; when used the item heals its owner with the health of a friendly unit

Finger of Death – (bonus item) when used kills 3 random neighboring units, yet has no effect on heroes

Fur Gloves – (bonus item) increases the health of its owner with 1200; when used it heals a random friendly unit with the health of the bearer

Horn of Victory – (bonus item) when used causes the bearer and 12 neighboring enemy units to suffer 60 points of damage.

If an item is chosen for a bonus it will remain in the player's Town Hall and automatically given to the first hero who enters it.

GAME SETTINGS

SELECT PARTY

Selects all party members in an adventure. (Only the members of the party can travel between maps).

NOTES

Opens the notes window, providing information about the list of tasks (if any) the player can accomplish together with explanations and map locations (where appropriate). Each note indicates which area it is relevant to.

QUICK SAVE

Saves the game under the name "Quicksave" that can be loaded with Quick load.

QUICK LOAD

Loads the last Quick Saved game.

DIPLOMACY

Opens the diplomacy window, showing your current relations with all players. Player diplomacy can be changed at any point during the game.

CHAT

Opens the chat window, enabling you to send messages to a specific player, all allies, or all players in the game.

MAP

Shows a map of the entire area marking the areas that have been explored, all visible buildings and all visible units.

HELP

Opens the in-game help window.

UNIT AND STRUCTURE CONTROLS

Apart from the general commands there is also a different set of controls that become visible once a unit or structure is selected. These controls are called unit or structure controls respectively and appear in the lower part of the screen. In order to use them you must first left-click on the structure or unit of your choice. In doing so you will be presented with a set of specific controls characteristic for the structure or unit in question.

Although some of the commands can be used by simply left-clicking on the chosen command, there are others that require a target. When using commands that require a target you must first left-click on that command and then left-click on a target you wish this command to be performed on. For example left-clicking on the attack command and then left-clicking on an enemy unit will have your unit attack that specific enemy target.

For a full list of all structure commands see the Structures section.
For a full list of all unit commands see the Unit Commands section.

GAME CONCEPTS

FOG OF WAR

During the game some parts of the map are covered with dark mist and others with pure blackness. This effect is called fog of war.

The black areas are not explored yet and you have no information what terrain lies beneath them. Units passing close to such areas reveal the terrain and any units and structures there. Once the black layer disappears it never appears again. The areas covered in dark mist reveal the terrain and structures, yet not the enemy units there.

The bright area, around your units and structures, enables you to see every unit, be it friend or foe.

MAP

The map of Nemesis of the Roman Empire is extremely detailed and represents a snapshot of the area taken from above. On it all structures and units of the explored area can be seen, each with the color of its player.

During the course of the game additional icons will also appear on the map indicating note locations, starving units, ongoing battles or sieges, as well as recently completed productions.

THE MAP CAN BE VIEWED AND REMOVED WITH THE SPACEBAR OR THE MAP BUTTON.

RESOURCES

There are two types of resources – food and gold.

Food is produced in villages. It is essential for all units and is used for population increase as well as army support.

Gold is produced in Strongholds. It is a source of richness and power and is used to upgrade structures, equip units, hire heroes, etc.

The quantities produced depend on the population of the village or Stronghold – the greater the number of inhabitants the greater the production.

Both are stored in Strongholds, villages and outposts can only be used or spent in their current location. If you want to use some gold or food elsewhere you first have to transport it to the desired destination (be it village, outpost or Stronghold) by using mules. Should the mule be killed in the process the resources are lost.

CAPTURING

Structures in the game cannot be built. However, they can be won and lost, destroyed and repaired numerous times during the course of the game.

Every structure has a level of loyalty and cannot be taken before that level becomes 0. To become the owner of a structure you must use the capture command of your army.

The same is in full force for units such as mules carrying food or gold. They too can be captured and become part of your forces.

Should the capturing cease before the structure is yours, or defenders are nearby, its loyalty will slowly start growing again.

In multiplayer mode there are a vast number of villages, and outposts, which are neutral. Such structures are captured instantly by the first player to reach them.

FEEDING

Every unit requires food and carries a small supply of food. The carried amount can be seen next to the food icon at the top of the screen (when the unit is selected).

When a unit runs out of food it begins to starve, at which point its health begins to decrease. You can tell that a unit is starving by the empty dish icon, which becomes visible on the map.

A unit can eat from a mule or a settlement (outpost, village or stronghold). When eating the unit's health increases - slowly if it's in the open, and faster if in a structure.

UNIT STATISTICS

Each unit has a set of statistics that differentiate it from the other units. Some of them are visible beside the unit icon and name.

HEALTH

The health of a unit represents its general condition. When it reaches zero health the unit dies.

When a unit is selected a health bar appears under its icon. The green part of the bar represents the unit's current health. Numeric values are also present, right under the health bar itself.

When several units are selected the bar shows the average health of the entire group.

If a hero with attached army is selected the upper health bar shows his health, and the lower – that of the units attached to him.

LEVEL

Every unit has a certain amount of experience that determines its level. As the level increases more experience is required to reach the next level. With each level the units gain 5 points bonus to their maximum health (20 for hero units). Higher level means that the unit will do more damage to less experienced units while receiving less.

The unit's experience increases with each kill depending on the experience of the enemy unit. The same effect can be achieved through training with an allied military unit.

The level of the selected unit is shown next to its name preceded by an icon with the letter L.

ATTACK

There are two types of attack – slashing and piercing. Every unit uses only one of these types. The minimum and maximum damage of the attack is shown under its level.

The damage inflicted by a unit depends on its level, the level of the enemy, and the enemy's defense against the type of attack.

For an attacker to inflict maximum damage on an enemy, the attacker must be X or more levels higher than the enemy, where X is the value of the enemy's defense. The lower the level of the attacker the less damage is inflicted (reaching minimum damage 20 levels under the point where maximum damage is inflicted).

For example: for a Swordsman to inflict maximum damage on a Spearman (with 6 slashing defense), the Swordsman must be 6 levels higher than the Spearman.

DEFENSE

Each unit has two types of defense - slashing and piercing, that indicate how well it defends itself against the various types of attack.

When a unit is X or more levels lower than an enemy attacker, where X is the value of the unit's defense, it receives maximum damage. The greater the level of the unit the less damage the attacker inflicts (reaching minimum damage 20 levels above the point at which maximum damage is inflicted by the attacker).

For example: When a first level Spearman (with 6 slashing defense) is attacked by an enemy Swordsman of level 6, the Spearman will receive the maximum amount of damage.

SPECIALS

Specials are such abilities that give advantages to specific units (depending on items and class modifiers). They portray the purposes of various units enabling the player to use their strengths to his advantage.

DEFENSIVE STAND

permits a unit to evade the first attack of any opponent without taking damage.

SPREAD DAMAGE

Makes the damage inflicted by the unit (of long range fighting units) proportional to the target's health: if the target's health is high the damage inflicted is as well, when the target's health is low.

COMBAT SKILL

Adds 1 bonus level for every consequential attack to and from the same enemy. The bonus grows with each attack (+1, +2, +3, etc.) and does not have an upper limit.

DEATH BLOW

Kills the target with one blow if its health is under 50%.

CHARGE

Increases the unit's attack 6 times if it hasn't attacked for 10 seconds.

TRAMPLE DAMAGE

enables the unit to hit back all surrounding attackers with 50% of its normal damage.

SPIKE DAMAGE

Returns all of the received damage back to the attacker (in close combat).

SPLASH DAMAGE

Projectiles coming from the unit hit not only the target but the nearby units as well.

VAMPIRE BLOW

Permits a unit to restore its health with 50% of the damage inflicted on another unit (unless spike damage or trample damage is used).

RAGE

Increases the unit's attack by transforming all the unit's health above 50% to additional damage for the enemy.

PENETRATE

Enables the unit to ignore all enemy armor (but not level).

BLEEDING ATTACK

Inflicts additional damage, which corresponds to 10% of the enemy's maximum health.

FULL ARMOR

Decreases the amount of combat damage inflicted to the unit by 8.

REGENERATION

Increases the unit feeding cycle, healing capability, food consumption and starvation damage 5 times each.

INVISIBILITY

Makes the unit invisible to all enemy units and players (but not structures) as long as that unit doesn't attack or capture buildings.

MASS DAMAGE

Inflicts damage to all visible enemy units.

HEROES

Unlike normal military units heroes should not be considered mere fighters. Their main strength lies in the ability to attach a group of up to 50 units, which from then on would follow their commands.

When attached, the units receive part of the hero's experience as a bonus to their own. In addition heroes arrange armies in specific formations that provide their units with an additional bonuses when executing the stand ground command.

THERE ARE THREE TYPES OF FORMATIONS THAT HEROES CAN POSITION THEIR TROOPS:

LINE

All units form one line (or more) in front of the hero.

BLOCK

All units arrange themselves around the hero in block structure.

HORSE WINGS

All cavalry units place themselves to the flanks of the army.

NOTES AND OBJECTIVES

The notes can be viewed in the notes window. To pop-up the notes window deselect all units and press the "Notes" button on the menu that appears at the bottom of the screen. In addition to its name each note has a description and sometimes a location associated with it. Notes with associated locations can be seen on the map.

During the adventure game you will be given a series of objectives. While some of them will be essential for the advancement of the adventure story, others only serve as bonus tasks for the player to complete if he chooses, and will provide some kind of reward - an increase of level, an item, additional troops, etc.

When a new objective is given a note appears in the notes window.

STRUCTURES

Structures represent static objects that have a specific purpose. Depending on their significance, structures could be used to equip units, create villagers, hire heroes, develop equipment and so on.

Every structure has a level of damage that reflects its condition. When the structure becomes too damaged it ceases to function and must be repaired in order to do so.

CARTHAGINIAN STRUCTURES

Being a culture of merchants the people of Carthage pride themselves with the extravagance and riches of their settlements, which they view as rare gems of trade throughout the savage world.

TOWN HALL

The Town Hall is the most important structure of a stronghold. It is there that units usually gather, and mules bring food or gold from other towns. Whoever controls the Town Hall controls all structures in the stronghold.

REPAIR

Repairs the tavern (when damaged).

HOUSE

The houses hold your population. Should an enemy attack them the overall villagers of your overall population die.

OTHER STRUCTURES

OUTPOSTS

Outposts are fortified buildings that have several entrances allowing units to enter quickly from any direction. They store resources, defend and heal all units inside.

Trade Outpost

Stone Outpost

Fort

Training Camp

The outpost automatically fires arrows at nearby enemy units. The rate of fire depends on the number of units inside the outpost.

When 2000 gold is stored in a Stone Outpost, it will provide interest of 8 gold every 2 seconds.

A Trade Outpost can sell 20 food for 10 gold every 2 seconds.

A Fort changes a peasant to a Maceman every 60 seconds.

A Training Camp increases the experience of units that remain inside every 20 seconds.

COMMANDS

CREATE MULE WITH FOOD

Creates a mule with food (between 100 and 1000).

CREATE MULE WITH GOLD

(Wooden Outposts only) Sells the food in the outpost for gold.

ATTACK

Concentrates the outpost's attack on a specified target.

SHIPYARDS

Shipyards are places where ships are built and where units can be sent across rivers and seas. Because of their nature both boats and mules can enter them. The shipyard uses boats when instructed to tribute resources to another shipyard.

Mules are used to tribute resources to an outpost, village or stronghold.

Wooden Shipyard

Stone Shipyard

COMMANDS

TRIBUTE

Sends resources to a specified village, stronghold, shipyard or outpost.

CREATE MULE WITH FOOD

Creates a mule with food (between 100 and 1000).

CREATE MULE WITH GOLD

Creates a mule with gold (between 100 and 1000).

CREATE BOAT WITH FOOD

Creates a boat with food (between 100 and 1000).

CREATE BOAT WITH GOLD

Creates a boat with gold (between 100 and 1000).

CREATE BATTLE SHIP

Creates a ship, which can be used for sea and coast combat.

TEUTON TENT

The Teuton tent is an isolated settlement of a small Teuton tribe. When independent the tent supports up to 50 Teuton Riders and Teuton Archers. After a player conquers the tent he can give orders to the garrison. The tent garrison increases by 2 every 32 seconds.

CAVE

Caves are underground passages that connect two distant points. Units and armies could use them to move from one place to another quickly and without being seen.

WELLS

Unlike rivers or ponds wells are rare and have great healing capabilities. Once a unit approaches near the well it is healed. The healing process requires a short period of time.

Fountain

Small Well

Large Well

ITEM HOLDERS

Although they lack any special appearance there are rumors about certain areas, which contain rare items. Objects such as tree trunks, chests, graves and others, which are surrounded with a circle of stones, treasure ancient gifts.

Tombstone

Chest

Tree Trunk

Mail Bag

STONEHENGE

Ancient and mysterious it is said that this arcane structure or stonehenge holds many secrets. Believed to be built by the druids a stonehenge represents one of the greatest sacred places where druids perform their rituals.

Roman priests too have acquired the knowledge to use its powers for their own needs.

Carthage has built shrines of its own, where through sacrifice to their god Moloch they are able to perform their own ceremonies.

A few druids or priests gathered at the stonehenge can perform arcane rituals that influence the whole world.

Stonehenge

Shine

THE FOLLOWING RITUALS CAN BE PERFORMED AT A STONEHENGE OR SHRINE

WIND OF WISDOM

Through the sacrifice of a druid (priest, shaman or enchantress) the level of every existing friendly and enemy unit below level 20 is increased with 1.

STARVATION

Through the combined strength of 3 druids (priests, shamans or enchantresses) the food of every friendly and enemy stronghold, outpost, village and mule is reduced every 5 seconds for a total of 5 minutes. The ritual could be stopped if all three druids (priests, shamans or enchantresses) are killed.

GOLDEN RAIN

Through the combined strength of 5 druids (priests, shamans or enchantresses) some gold is added in every friendly and enemy stronghold every 2 seconds for a total of 2 minutes. The ritual could be stopped if all five druids (priests, shamans or enchantresses) are killed.

DEATH WISH

Through the combined strength of 6 druids (priests, shamans or enchantresses) every friendly and enemy druid (priest, shaman or enchantress) receives 40 damage every 2 seconds for a total of 1 minute. The ritual could be stopped if all six druids (priests, shamans or enchantresses) are killed.

BLOODLUST

Through the combined strength of 8 druids (priests, shamans or enchantresses) every friendly and enemy unit inflicts its maximum damage in battle, regardless of level or enemy defenses for a total of 6 minutes. The ritual could be stopped if all eight druids (priests) are killed.

TEUTON UPRISING

Through the combined strength of 10 druids (priests, shamans or enchantresses) a large Teuton horde emerges from every Teuton tent and attempts to take over all existing settlements (enemy and other) on the map. The ritual could be stopped if all ten druids (priests, shamans or enchantresses) are killed.

RUINS

Remains of past times, ruins often hold treasures. However, it is rumored that they are full of dangers as well. That is the reason why only heroes of a certain level dare enter and come back with a valuable item. The current required level and the item present are visible in the Ruins interface.

INN

Throughout the land there are a number of places that serve as a gathering place for travelers, traders and foreigners. Inns are present only in an adventure and provide passage to distant lands for your party.

UNITS

CARTHAGINIAN UNITS

LIBYAN FOOTMAN

Libyan footmen are equipped with a spear and light armor suitable for all conditions. Cheap to hire, the Libyan footmen are flexible units fit for every purpose.

Special: Defensive Stand

Equipped in Barracks

JAVELIN THROWER

One of the best ranged units in the world, javelin throwers are a deadly force to be reckoned with. While they certainly lack the range of the archers and slingers, the javelin throwers inflict greater damage and penetrating attack.

Special: Spread Damage

Equipped in Barracks

BERBER ASSASSIN

The Berbers wear no armor, instead they carry two swords in their hands.

These are berserk attackers with an extremely powerful first attack but lack protection and durability in battle.

Special: Rage

Equipped in Barracks

MACEMAN

Macemen are experienced warriors equipped with chain mail armor and flails. Their training and choice of weapons makes them extremely powerful in both defense and attack.

Special: Bleeding Attack

Equipped in Barracks

NUMIDIAN RIDER

Although not as fast as horses, camels are better suited to live in the desert and is thus preferred in the Carthaginian army. The rider wears a light shirt and turban, armed with nothing but a spear.

Special: Combat Skill

Equipped in Barracks

NOBLE

While most of the Carthaginian warriors are merely hired mercenaries there is the single force composed entirely of Carthaginians - the Sacred Legion, which consisted of highly trained and well equipped Noble Carthaginians.

Special: Full Armor

Equipped in Barracks

Requires Sacred Legion (Arena)

SHAMAN

The shamans are magicians of the ancient world. Their power was known and feared by everyone. Although shamans don't have any attack they could use a number of special abilities as well as learn from other units.

Called from Temple

WAR ELEPHANT

The war elephants are among the strongest units that the Carthaginians have. The elephants are controlled by people named Mahouts. The tremendous strength and regeneration of these beasts helps them survive many battles.

Special: Regeneration, Trample Damage
(Requires People's Assembly in Arena)

Hired at Arena

IBERIAN UNITS

MILITIAMAN

Militiamen are ordinary villagers equipped with a sword and a shield. They could also be disbanded back to peasants when there is no further use of them.

Special: Penetrating Attack

Equipped in Barracks

ARCHER

Archery was a common skill among the Iberia population. The archers are a little more than hunters made into warriors.

Special: Spread Damage

Equipped in Barracks

DEFENDER

Defenders are equipped with massive armor and iron-headed spears. They compose the backbone of any army and could provide for excellent defense or lead an attack.

Special: Defensive Stand, Full Armor

Equipped in Barracks

CAVALRY

The Iberian cavalry is one of the fiercest in existence. These units hit heavily while charging, yet are not very useful once the grand melee has begun.

Special: Charge

Equipped in Barracks

SLINGER

The slingers are light in armor and heavy in damage. The stones they throw could break through even the strongest enemy armor.

Special: Penetrating Attack, Spread Damage

Equipped in Barracks

ELITE GUARD

Equipped with battle axes the Elite Guards are strong in one-on-one combat where their skill helps them best the enemy. Their ferocity is so great that even the strongest foes prefer to flee than face them.

Special: Bleeding Attack

Equipped in Barracks

ENCHANTRESS

As matriarchs enchantresses have great political power and influence over all Iberians. Although they can't attack the enchantresses could use a number of special abilities such as learning from units, and more.

Called from Sanctuary

MOUNTAINEER

Treacherous and stealthy Mountaineers could remain invisible for all enemies as long as they do not attack or capture enemy units or buildings. In addition these warriors could survive in the wilderness without the constant need of food.

Special: Invisibility (Requires Tournaments in Arena)

Hired at Arena

GAUL UNITS

GAUL SWORDSMAN

Spearmen are equipped with shield, short sword and light body armor that allows quick movement. Swordsmen are cheap general-purpose units that can be trained quickly in case of danger.

Equipped in Barracks

GAUL ARCHER

Archers use hunter's bow for attack and have light armor. Since Gauls are excellent hunters they only need a few training lessons to become archers. Archers are most effective against small enemy armies, or as support for your main force.

Special: Spread Damage Makes the damage inflicted by the unit proportional to the target's health: If the target's health is high so to is the damage.

Equipped in Barracks

GAUL AXEMAN

With his double-handed axe the axeman looks threatening and deadly.

This is a berserk type unit that makes a lot of damage but is defenseless from piercing attacks.

Special: Attack Skill Adds 1 attack bonus to the unit for every consequential attack on the same target. The bonus grows with each attack (+1, +2, +3, etc ).

Equipped in Barracks

Requires Axes (from Blacksmith)

GAUL SPEARMAN

Equipped with short spears these units have a powerful piercing strike. They defend themselves with large shields that are easy to carry. Spearmen are extremely effective against cavalry units.

Special: Defensive Stand Permits a unit to evade the first attack of any opponent without taking damage.

Equipped in Barracks

Requires Spears (from Blacksmith)

GAUL HORSEMEN

Horses are expensive but provide excellent speed and protection. Horsemen are equipped with short swords and leather armor. These units do not do much damage except when charging but are fast and hard to kill.

Special: Charge Increases the unit's attack 6 times if it hasn't attacked for 10 seconds.

Equipped in Barracks

Requires Horseshoes (from Blacksmith)

GAUL FEMALE WARRIOR

Equipped with light armor and a large sword the woman warrior is an enemy not to be underestimated. Trained their entire lifetime the woman warriors are an elite force that is expensive to come by but with excellent skills.

Special: Death Blow Kills the target with one blow if its health is under 50%.

Equipped in Barracks

Requires Breastplates (from Blacksmith).

GAUL DRUID

Although they look like old men in white robes, druids are by far more dangerous and useful than they seem. Although druids don't have any attack and little defense they could use a number of special abilities such as healing, learning from units and more.

Called from Druid House

VIKING LORD

Bloodthirsty and aggressive Vikings are among the fiercest warriors. War is their only purpose in life, the battlefield – their only home. Dressed in furs and carrying Thor's hammer they could easily kill a unit with one blow. You can have as many as four Viking Lords.

Specials: Vampire Blow Permits a unit to restore its health with 50% of the damage inflicted to another unit (unless spike damage or trample damage is used).

Freedom Prevents a unit from being attached to a hero.

Hired at Arena

Requires Fights (in Arena).

ROMAN UNITS

ROMAN HASTATUS

The hastati are well armored and equipped with short swords (gladius). They generally represent fresh recruits of a legion and compose its main force.

Special: Defensive Stand Permits a unit to evade the first attack of any opponent without taking damage. Equipped in Barracks

ROMAN ARCHER

Equipped with bow and light armor the roman archers are trained so as to provide effective support for other troops.

Special: Spread Damage Makes the damage inflicted by the unit proportional to the target's health. If the target's health is high the damage inflicted is as well, when the target's health is low – hardly any damage is inflicted at all. Equipped in Barracks
Requires Arrows (from Blacksmith).

ROMAN GLADIATOR

Gladiators are fierce warriors that have survived numerous fights at the arena. They are equipped with long tridents and specially designed armor that sets them apart from everyone else.

Special: Defensive Stand Permits a unit to evade the first attack of any opponent without taking damage. Equipped in Barracks
Requires Tridents (from Blacksmith).

ROMAN PRINCIPLE

Principles are equipped with large rectangular shields (scutum), body armor and short spears. Once hastati these warriors have managed to climb the ranks of the roman army thanks to their skills.

Special: Attack Skill Adds 1 attack bonus to the unit for every consequential attack on the same target. The bonus grows with each attack (+1, +2, +3, etc). Equipped in Barracks
Requires Spears (from Blacksmith).

ROMAN SCOUT

A few men on horseback are attached to every legion to scout and support the infantry in battle. Scouts are equipped with short swords, large shields and light armor. They do not do much damage but their speed makes them hard to kill.

Special: Charge Increases the unit's attack 6 times if it hasn't attacked for 10 seconds. Equipped in Barracks

Requires Horseshoes (from Blacksmith).

ROMAN PRAETORIAN

These elite fighters are generally used to guard important structures like the Senate of Rome. They have excellent training and outstanding equipment.

Special: Spike Damage Returns half of the received damage back to the attacker (in close combat). Equipped in Barracks Requires Spiked Armor (from Blacksmith).

ROMAN PRIEST

Priests are servants of the gods clad in white robes and carrying a wooden staff. Although they cannot attack they could use a number of special abilities such as healing, learning from units and more.

ROMAN LIBERATUS

Liberati are gladiators who have earned their right to freedom and roman citizenship thanks to their outstanding skills at the arena. When given enough gold they could become fighters of fortune ready to obey the commands of the person who hired them.

Specials: Splash Damage Projectiles coming from the unit hit not only the target but the nearby units as well. Freedom Prevents a unit from being attached to a hero. Hired at Arena

Requires Gladiator Shows (in Arena).

OTHER UNITS

HEROES

Only the most skilled and experienced warriors become heroes. Their powers are so great that few can match them in battle. Their greatest strengths, however, are not their combat abilities, but rather their excellent leadership and knowledge. Only heroes can lead units, at which point the attached units acquire part of the hero's experience. Not only that, but heroes could order their troops to march in a specific formation which would give them a slight advantage in battle.

PEASANT

Peasants are common inhabitants of a village. The greater their number the greater the gold and food produced, as well as the village's resistance.

Called from Tavern or Village Hall

TEUTON RIDER

Bloodthirsty and wild, Teuton riders fight in battle wearing wolf skins as cloaks. Fast and strong they wreck havoc wherever they ride. Teuton riders can be obtained from the Teuton tent. (After it is captured)

Called from Teuton Tent

TEUTON ARCHER

These are exceptionally strong and fast archers, perfect for disruption of the enemy before and after the main strike. Due to their small damage the archers are often useless in large battles.

Called from Teuton Tent

GHOUL

Ghouls are creatures from another plane that have been called temporarily to our world. Although ghouls do not attack someone directly they drain other units' life when passing by. Once the ghouls' time in this world runs out it returns to the world of the dead.

Called by Druid's
Created by Shaman

MULE

Mules are used to transport resources. Because of their ability to travel in any conditions and over practically every terrain they are the only reliable means of supply.

Called from Town Hall, Village, Shipyard or Outpost

CATAPULT

The catapult is a large wooden device capable of launching heavy flaming projectiles towards the designed target. Once the catapult is constructed units are required to operate it. Due to its inaccuracy the catapult is mostly effective against buildings. Any military unit (with the exception of heroes) can be ordered to start building a catapult on the battlefield.

After the order is given the catapult image appears under the mouse cursor. A red placement area indicates it can not be placed, white means the catapult can be built.

Built by any Military Unit

BOAT

The boat is a small vessel used to transport resources between ship-yards and also supply the army with food during military campaigns.

Built in Shipyard

BATTLESHIP

The battle ship is equipped to attack other ships as well as targets on the coast. It can also be used to carry military.

WOLF

Wolves are clever animals, which travel in packs and attack any creature they see.

EAGLE

Eagles cannot attack or land, yet they can fly over areas and explore.

CROW

Crows are ideal spies.

DEER

POISON MUSHROOM

Increases the unit level by 1 permanently. The unit must have at least 90% health in order to use the mushroom.

RYE SPIKES

When used distributes up to 200 food among all friendly neighboring units.

SNAKE SKIN

Increases the minimum\maximum attack of the bearer by 10.

HELP, TIPS AND HINTS

GETTING HELP

In the game there are several ways to get help. To get help use the 'Help Button' which appears at the bottom of the screen after left-clicking, or by pressing F1.

Alternatively by right-clicking on the icon of the selected unit or structure you could receive information about that unit or structure.

COMMANDING UNITS

Before a unit may be given orders it must be selected, which is achieved by clicking on it. Once selected a number of command options appear at the bottom of the screen. Keep the mouse cursor over a chosen button (without clicking on it) and an explanation of the command appears.

To have the unit perform the action you must left-click on the desired command then choose with the left mouse button the location where you wish it be performed (either on the game screen or on the map).

VIEWING STRONGHOLD RESOURCES

In order to view resources in a stronghold, or outpost, you need to right-click on the structure itself. When selected at the top of the screen you will see how much gold and food the structure contains, as well as all units that are within.

COLLECTING MORE GOLD

There are several ways that enable you to obtain more gold during the game. The first and most important is to increase the population of your stronghold. Each peasant pays a tax in gold and the greater their number the greater the money you will receive.

Carthaginians can also gain gold by selling part of their population in to slavery from the market place.

Another method is to put 2000 gold in a stone outpost, where it will gain interest over time.

Money can also be acquired when food is sold via a wooden outpost.

COLLECTING MORE FOOD

The production of food in a village is proportional to the size of its population. Gaul players can impose food tax to the population of their stronghold by clicking on the Food Tax command in the Tavern. Other players can buy food with gold at the Tavern.

GAINING MORE EXPERIENCED UNITS

Training is a safe way for units to gain experience. In many ways it is like fighting, yet in training units cannot die. However, they do receive injuries, so it would be wise not to throw them in to battle right after they have trained.

Experienced heroes can give large experience bonuses to the units they command. Thus, carefully developing a hero throughout the entire game can give you an advantage over your opponents.

HEALING UNITS

Units are healed when they are close to a source of food, be it within a stronghold or outpost or close to a mule with food. When the units are within a structure the healing is faster. Druids and priests have the ability to heal as well. In addition wells heal units around them.

BUILDING CATAPULTS

Catapults are generally used to siege strongholds or outposts since they have a greater firing range. In order to create a catapult a number of units must be selected (between 1 and 10) and given the 'build catapult' command. After the order is given it will take a short period of time for the catapult to be constructed in the chosen location.

Although it is possible for a single unit to build a catapult it would be more time efficient to use as many as possible.
